SEES READY SALE OF LYCEUM SEATS

Manager Kendall of Augustana Association Predicts an Unusually Successful Season.

FIRST NUMBER IS DUE OCT. 28

Several of the Leading Educators and Entertainers Before Public to Appear Here.

With the tickets going rapidly, the Augustana Lyceum association this morning announced through its manager, Leonard Kendall, that from the present indications all of the 500 seats that will be sold this year are expected to be engaged long before the first number occurs on Oct. 28. The friends and patrons of the course are therefore urged to act promptly if they hope to secure seats. The prices are extremely moderate this year, the advance sale tickets being $1.25 and season reservations going for 50 cents, $1 and $1.50.

The talent this season consists of one of America's foremost prima donna concert sopranos, a great Chicago statesman, a great monologist, a college president, a journalist, a purposeful lecturer, a quiet, and an economist and social expert.

Miss Myrna Sharlow, the brilliant young American soprano, will open the course. The date has not yet been definitely decided, but it will be announced in a few days. This artist is in great demand and it was with much difficulty that she was secured for the opening number. Unlike many of our present day singers, Miss Sharlow does not depend upon a foreign name in order to establish her merits. Her voice is described by many critics as being of more natural beauty and simplicity than of any living singer. She has substituted for such singers as Mme. Melba, and measured up to the highest possible expectations. With the Sharlow Concert company is the famous violinist, Pierre Henrotte, a native of the historic city of Liege and a musician of international reputation. At present he is concert master for the Chicago Grand Opera company. Miss Sharlow's pianist is Frederick E. Tiltonson, a young artist of more than exceptional ability.

Ng Poon Chow is the Chinese journalist, scholar and statesman. He has lectured extensively throughout the United States, appearing in all the principal cities before vast audiences. Because of his wholesome wit and fun-making he has been termed the "Chinese Mark Twain." His subjects are substantial and his treatment always serious, but he has the happy faculty of dressing up everything he says in terms of sharp interest.

Presents Many Characters. Adrian M. Newens is a staff critic for the Redpath Lyceum bureau. Before the public he is a monologist, which is to say, he is an individual artist presenting many characters in one continuous story or play. His entertainment is the sermon without the preacher, the lecture without the lecturer, the drama without the actors and stage properties.

James Watt Raine has lived among the mountaineers of Arkansas and Kentucky for 15 years. He has been so busy working with and talking to them that he has had little time to talk about them. He has, however, lectured from Montreal to Texas and from New York to the Pacific.

Henry M. Hyde has a vital subject in "The Wholesale Manufacture of Criminals." A recent series of articles by Mr. Hyde, widely known writer on the Chicago Tribune, which were printed all over the United States and were made the subject of scores of editorials in newspapers and magazines, centered public attention on what he describes as "The Greatest Crime in the United States—the Wholesale Manufacture of Criminals."

John Temple Graves is described by many authorities as being the most eloquent living American. As each of the leading men of the modern platform represents some special excellence, so Mr. Graves stands pre-eminent. First, as a master of English, using language so rich, so clear, and yet so virile and vivid that literary folk speak of his orations as "a liberal education in our mother tongue."

Edward Amherst Ott will again appear on the course this year. To those who heard him last year this is a most welcome announcement. No one on the lyceum platform has more return engagements than Mr. Ott. His purposeful, witty and well delivered lecture last year more than pleased a large audience.

Quartet is Unique.

The Weber Male quartet is in every sense a high class organization, composed of four of the well known concert and church soloists of New York City. An association of several years in successful concert and phonograph work has resulted in the beautiful blending and clearness of enunciation and the artistic distinction which are the essentials of a really satisfactory quartet. The personnel of the quartet is unique, in that each man is a musician as well as a singer. It is sufficient in itself for the presentation of an entire entertainment and requires no outside assistance for accompaniment or obligatos.

Frank Dixon for more than 12 years has filled an average of 120 lecture engagements annually in every part of the United States. Mr. Dixon is gifted by nature with the temperament of an orator. He is possessed of the Roman sense of justice, the Greek precision of speech. He possesses that faculty, so rarely found among public men, of discerning a weighty theme before a popular audience in a manner so lucid and captivating and yet so original, powerful and convincing that there is not a moment of heaviness, no consciousness of the flight of time. Great audiences in every section of America have heard him with unbounded enthusiasm.

FINISH PROGRAM FOR CONVENTION

Liquor Dealers to Spare No Expense in Entertaining 600 Delegates of Illinois Association.

NATIONAL PRESIDENT COMING

Presence of Neil Bonner Expected to Add Much Interest to Meeting—Special Train From Chicago.

The executive committee of the Retail Liquor Dealers' association has completed plans for the entertainment of the delegates and their ladies of the Illinois State Retail Liquor Dealers' association, when the convention opens here next Tuesday. The plans include the business session of the delegates and many social functions. The committee is planning for the entertainment of 600 delegates and ladies during the convention, and one of the largest meetings of recent years is anticipated.

The added interest is felt in the state convention because this is a general election year and members to the state legislature and state officers are to be elected. While there is no special announcement of a legislative program, the liquor dealers are planning to take an active part in the state campaign, and this applies especially to legislators.

The headquarters of the convention will be at the New Harper, where on Monday evening there will be a reception to the delegates and their ladies, together with a band concert. Special trains will be run from Chicago and Peoria for the delegates and ladies from these cities and a most interesting time is looked for.

Tuesday morning the first convention session will be held at Turner hall at 9:30. There will be an address of welcome by Mayor William McConochie, a response by the state president, and a regular business session following. Another business session will be held Tuesday afternoon and the final business session, with the election of officers, will take place Wednesday morning at 9:30. Special plans are being made for the entertainment of the delegates.

MOTHERS TO LEARN OF BOY DEPARTMENT

The mothers in the city who attend the second annual mother and son banquet at the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday evening will get first hand information as to what the boys' department of the local association is doing for the boys of the city. The program for the evening is a splendid one that all will enjoy and one that is at the same time instructive. Local mothers and sons are on the program for short talks and the main address of the evening will be given by Mrs. Mary E. Huntton of Moline. Music for the affair will be furnished by members of the department orchestra. After the banquet there will be a swimming exhibition by the boys and inspection of the building and the boys' club rooms. The mothers will be shown the wireless station in operation and see how Johnny telegraphs without the aid of wires or telegraph poles. They will be shown every form of activity carried on in the building. Tickets are being sold fast and already a larger number have been sold than attended last year's banquet. It is hoped that all who plan to attend will do so as soon as possible so that those in charge may know how many to prepare for. Tickets admit two and cost 75 cents.

TWO CONFESS TO STEALING CLOAKS

Chief Phil Miller Puts on His Gum Shoes and Makes Important Arrest With Traffic Cop.

TAKE COATS FROM AUTOMOBILES

Joe Brown and Valentine Amatto, Later a Mexican, Admit Crime After Being Apprehended.

Chief Phil Miller put on his gum shoes last night and did a little sleuthing in the loop, showing the younger officers how he was accustomed to turn the trick when he was traveling a beat years ago. The result was the arrest of two men, who are being held awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of larceny.

The chief was aided by Traffic Officer Fitzsimmons, whose attention was called to two men who were seen to have two women's cloaks. The chief and traffic officer gave chase and the pair were arrested at Sixteenth street and First avenue. They gave the names of Joe Brown and Valentine Amatto, the latter a Mexican.

Subsequent developments disclosed that one of the cloaks belonged to Mrs. Max Ochs of Davenport. It was stolen from her automobile while it was standing in front of Hotel Harms. Later the two men confessed, saying that the other coat was stolen from an automobile which had been standing in front of the Majestic theatre. The owner of the latter coat has not been located.

It was the aim of the police to locate the owner of the coat taken from in front of the theatre before giving the men a preliminary hearing. Both are from out of town, police say, but are not desperate characters, being considered only in the petty thief class.

George Morse was held to county court on a charge of horse stealing and McKinley Abbott was released when they were arraigned in police court today. The pair were accused of having stolen a team and rig belonging to Louis Huber of Silvis, which he left standing at the corner of Twentieth street and Third avenue last Saturday night.
